Frequently Asked Questions

How does it work?

Intense Pulsed Light treatment works by destroying the hair producing cell and renders it unable to reproduce hair by sending a scattered beam of light down the hair shaft into the follicle itself. The pigment in the hair absorbs the light emitted by the hand piece whilst leaving the surrounding skin untouched by the energy making it an extremely safe procedure. Over time the hair growth cycle is weakened to such a point that the re-growth is dramatically reduced.

What does the treatment feels like?

A clear lotion is applied and the cooled head of the IPL machine moves swiftly over the area to be treated. Many hundreds of hair follicles can be treated with a single pulse and the small head of the machine makes smaller areas of the face easily accessible.

There is very little discomfort during treatment and most clients find it virtually pain free.

What results can I expect?

Depending on the area treated, an average of 6 to 8 sessions over 6 to 12 weekly intervals will typically reduce the hair growth by up to 85%.

How long does it take?

IPL hair removal is a fast effective hair removal system and facial hair can be treated in a matter of a few minutes. Other areas such as underarms and bikinis take less than 30 minutes with upper/lower legs and lower arms approximately 45 minutes.

Side effects

There is no down-time to this hair removal system. The treated area may be a little pink after treatment but this quickly subsides. You can resume normal activities immediately afterwards.

Am I suitable for this treatment?

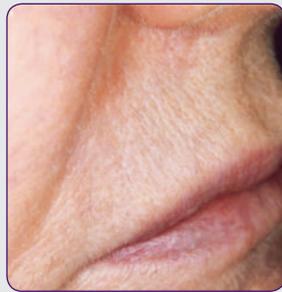

Most people are suitable for IPL hair removal but recent exposure to the sun and tanning including fake tans must be avoided 4 weeks prior to the treatment.
