Treat your body to a more streamlined look

Lift-Shape is the latest treatment for non-invasive body contouring and skin firming.

The Lift-Shape radiofrequency device is a revolutionary clinically proven treatment to reduce fat, deliver body contouring and improve cellulite. In addition radiofrequency targets the collagen just under the skin surface to give a firmer and more contoured appearance.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is Lift-Shape and how does it work?

Radiofrequency is a long wavelength form of energy similar to radio waves that pass through the skin, deep into the fat layer to gradually heat the tissue. This heating process disrupts fat cells and encourages the body to reabsorb them. The existing collagen fibre just under the skin surface is altered producing new collagen and elastin.

The main part of the treatment uses dynamic quadripolar radiofrequency to allow electromagnetic waves to achieve fat reduction, improvements in the appearance of cellulite, body contouring and skin firming. If you have concerns regarding stretch marks, post pregnancy or surgical scars there is an optional second part to this treatment called fractional radiofrequency. This is delivered through 32 gold pins and is controlled by computer software to produce precise points of energy to treat hundreds of minute areas of skin. New cell growth and collagen production is stimulated to improve the blemished area of skin.

This is an ideal treatment for those who wish to target areas of fat and cellulite and also achieve tighter firmer skin.

Am I suitable for this treatment?

Almost everyone can benefit from Lift-Shape treatment and it is suitable for all skin types.

How many treatments will I need to see results?

For prolonged improvements an initial course of six treatments is recommended followed by further maintenance treatments for most areas. For optimal results this procedure should be combined with cardiovascular exercise and a sensible healthy diet.

What does treatment feel like?

The treatment lasts about 45 minutes, is completely non-invasive and there are no side effects so there is zero downtime.

Are there any side effects after treatment?

You may experience a slight pinkness in the skin immediately after treatment but this usually disappears within 15 minutes.
