What is Lift-Shape radiofrequency and how does it work?
Radiofrequency is a long wavelength form of energy similar to radio waves that pass through the skin to gradually heat the tissue. The existing collagen fibre is altered producing collagen contraction and remodelling. Cells are activated to produce new collagen and elastin.

Am I suitable for this treatment?
Almost everyone can benefit from Lift-Shape treatment and it is suitable for all skin types.

How many treatments will I need to see results?
Most people see an immediate improvement after the first treatment. However for prolonged improvements a course of six treatments is recommended for most areas.

Frequently Asked Questions

What does the treatment feel like?
There is a pleasant slight warming sensation on the skin during treatment which patients find very relaxing.

Are there any side effects after treatment?
You may experience a slight pinkness in the skin immediately after treatment but this usually disappears within 15 minutes.

The Lift-Shape radiofrequency device is a revolutionary clinically proven skin tightening and fractional resurfacing system which instantly improves the look of the skin. The invisible radiofrequency waves are directed into the deeper layers of the skin causing the collagen to contract giving a firmer, more youthful, lifted look. Fractional treatments safely deliver energy to the skin surface improving skin texture, fine lines and wrinkles whilst providing a noticeable lift.
